

Subject: invitation NierCheck population screening

Dear sir, madam,

You are invited to participate in the NierCheck trial for population screening. This research takes place in the municipality of Breda. For this, you receive a urine test, the NierCheck (Kidney Check). With the NierCheck you can test if you have too much protein in your urine. This can be a first sign of the development of kidney, heart and vascular diseases. The information in this letter and in the information brochure can help you decide whether you want to participate.

How to participate?

With the NierCheck we measure the amount of protein in your urine. Next to this letter you will also find a test package with all the requirements for the test. To perform the test, you must install an app on your smartphone. Please see the information brochure and the test instructions for more information. You will immediately see the result of the urine test in the app. You will also receive the result by post within 2 weeks of taking the test.

What if we find an increased amount of protein in your urine?

An increased amount of protein in the urine can be a sign of kidney damage, but there can also be other causes. If we find too much protein in your urine, you will receive an extra urine test. When we again find an increased amount of protein in your urine, you will receive an invitation for a follow-up screening. This screening takes place at the Amphia hospital in Breda. There, we will investigate whether you have an increased risk of kidney disease and cardiovascular disease.

Will my doctor get the results?

Only when you participate in the follow-up screening at the Amphia hospital, your doctor will receive your test results. All doctors in the municipality of Breda have received information about this study.

Can I participate for free?

The urine test is free. There are also no costs involved for the follow-up screening at the Amphia hospital. You may be referred to your doctor for treatment based on the results of the follow-up screening. Possible costs of this treatment are not included in the NierCheck study, but fall under standard care. The costs of this treatment therefore fall under your health insurance policy.

Participating is voluntary

You decide whether you want to participate in the study. If you want to participate, you must give your permission. You can do this by filling in the form on the next page. You must send this form with the return envelope to the laboratory.
